The 14th edition of Bollywood Film Festival opened with the presence of eminent personalities from Norway. Dignitaries including the Mayor of Lørenskog, Ragnhild Bergheim, secretary of the state, Bård Folke Fredriksen, Himanshu Gulati, Indian bureaucrat, and celebrities from Bollywood and the Iranian film industry were present at the festival.

Among the highlights of this year, the presence of yesteryear actress, Zeenat Aman, and upcoming actress Huma Qureshi were the guests of honour. Zeenat Aman was awarded for a lifetime of contribution to Indian cinema. And her contributions to the cinematic world were also acknowledged in the form of a special stamp which was released on this occasion, from the Postal Department. Huma Qureshi was awarded as the most promising Bollywood actress.

Also, present at the festival was an upcoming director, Azaan Khan showcasing his first film Bankster, as the opening film of the festival along with the lead cast of the film. The film was screened at the opening. Azaan Khan was also awarded the Shri Vikas Mohan Award for being the most promising new director.
